KRINN, RITT REELECTED

Executive Chief Calls For Full Cooperation In
Sawyer Campaign

The reins of the Pickaway county Democratic organization were in the hands of Lawrence E. Goeller, Beverly road, again Saturday following his uncontested election by the party's Executive committee Friday evening in the Common Pleas courtroom. As chairman of the Executive committee Mr. Goeller will direct the Fall campaign.

Elected also without opposition were Tom D. Krinn and John S. Ritt, veteran secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Thirty-two of the committee's 41 members attended the meeting. Election of the officers was completed in less than five minutes. After calling the meeting to order, Mr. Goeller stepped aside in favor of Lawrence J. Johnson, who acted as temporary chairman. The call for nominations was made and Mr. Goeller's name was offered. After the temporary chairman asked for further nominations and there was none, the nominations were closed. There were no "nays" when the vote was called. The same procedure took place for each of the officers.

Cooperation Urged
Mr. Goeller, who led the Davey campaign in Pickaway county in the recent primary, called for 100 percent cooperation in the campaign to elect Charles Sawyer as governor and to put all other Democratic nominees in office.

In a statement to the committee during its meeting he defended his efforts in behalf of Mr. Davey by declaring that he believed any committee that had received favors for its county that Pickaway's had been able to obtain from Governor Davey should have "gone to bat" for the executive responsible for the patronage provided during the last two years. Pickaway county just prior to the primary had 302 persons on the state payroll. Mr. Goeller told the committee that this number was far out of proportion with Pickaway county's population. "We had much more patronage (Continued on Page Eight)

WHEAT AND CORN PRICES GO UP

Traders Believe Wallace's
Plan To Purchase For Export Is Aid

Wheat and corn prices, which have been sinking lower and lower on the Circleville market in the last month, Saturday, took a decided step toward recovery when they gained three cents and two cents, respectively.

The cash bid for wheat to county farmers went to 59 cents, three cents higher than Friday's offer. Corn, white and yellow, gained two cents, climbing to 48 cents. Some grain experts expressed belief that Secretary Wallace's move to buy surplus American wheat for export and domestic relief purposes had resulted in the market's recovery move. Many national dealers have been operating with unusual caution the last few days awaiting disclosure of the Department of Agriculture. (Continued on Page Eight)

Wallace Acts To Buy Wheat for Exporting

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace initiated a far-reaching wheat export subsidy program today designed to meet competitive prices in world markets.

In the first step toward subsidized exports, he directed the Federal Surplus Commodity corporation to begin immediately the purchase of wheat for export. He did not reveal plans for disposal of the wheat, but he left no doubt that subsidies would be used. Speaking at St. Anne De Bellevue, Quebec, Canada, today, Wallace denounced the use of export subsidies by other nations, but said that their action had forced the United States to "take fully as aggressive action" to secure her full share of world trade.

"In the realities of 1938 we find numerous countries pursuing their programs of price-fixing and export subsidy with little regard to the fact that when carried to an extreme they have been mutually self-defeating," he told the International Conference of Agricultural Economists.

He did not mention Canada, the United States' chief competitor in world wheat markets, but warned that this country is prepared to go just as far as Canada in the subsidizing of wheat exports.

SHERIFF CLAIMS CONFESSIONS IN MANY ROBBERIES

Chicken Thefts In Three Counties Cleared By Arrests Of Four

POLICE AID PRAISED

Hoover, Beers, Gray, Hedges
Farms Raided By Men,
Radcliff Says

A series of chicken thefts in Pickaway, Fairfield and Knox counties and the burglary of a Ross county store had been cleared by the sheriff's department Saturday. Four men were under arrest. Confessions involve four thefts of chickens in Pickaway county.

The men held are Howard Radcliff, 21; Homer Bostic, 26, Ralph, 23, and Clarence Goodrich, 29, all of Columbus. The Goodrich brothers were arrested Friday in Columbus by Sheriff Radcliff and Franklin county deputy sheriffs.

Sheriff Radcliff said confessions of the men clear up the theft of 60 chickens from Wayne Hoover, Jackson township; 160 chickens from Ray Beers, Scioto township; 45 chickens from Max Gray, Scioto township, and from 40 to 50 chickens from Richard Hedges, Harrison township. The thefts occurred during the last two months. Radcliff said Clarence Goodrich worked alone on the Hoover and Gray thefts. Howard Radcliff accompanied the Goodrich brothers when the fowls were taken from Mr. Beers and Ralph Goodrich. Radcliff and Bostic participated in the Hedges theft, the sheriff said.

Fairfield Jobs Traced
Bostic, Ralph Goodrich and Radcliff are involved also in the theft of between 30 and 40 chickens from M. H. Fricker, Lancaster Route 1, and about 40 from Sarah Klump, a neighbor of Mr. Fricker. The sheriff and Deputy Earl Weaver took the group to Fairfield county to point out the places where they had taken chickens.

Clarence Goodrich is recovering from gunshot wounds in the right leg received about three weeks ago in Fairfield county when he, Bostic and Radcliff attempted to obtain chickens from the farm of Dewey Fisher, four miles East of Thurston. Chickens had been sacked but the men were chased away before they could be taken. Goodrich, the sheriff said, had been confined to bed from the injuries until several days ago.

The Goodrich brothers and Radcliff are involved also in the theft of tobacco, pipes, cigarettes, light bulbs and various other merchandise from a store in Ross county, East of Chillicothe.

Circleville Police Thanked
Sheriff Radcliff said the solution of the series of cases is the result of splendid cooperation on the part of the Circleville police department. Two of the men, Bostic and Radcliff, and two women were arrested a week ago by city police for investigation in the theft of gasoline from a car parked on E. Franklin street. The group had two cars. In one of the cars police found three sacks. Sheriff Radcliff was notified immediately that (Continued on Page Eight)

Has Germany Won Favor of Hungary?

MAP OF CENTRAL EUROPE, ADOLF HITLER, LEFT, AND ADMIRAL HORTHY

FATE of central Europe may be decided in the struggle now going on between the Little Entente nations and Germany over the kingless kingdom of Hungary, strategically located in the Danube valley. Admiral Nicholas Horthy's conversations, in Kiel and Berlin, with Germany's Adolf Hitler—conversations in which both expressed sentiments looking to close collaboration between Hungary and Germany in association with Italy—have brought the question to a head. Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugoslavia have been attempting to block expansion of Nazi influence by luring Hungary away from Germany. The entente powers, meeting at Bled, Yugoslavia, recognized Hungary's right to rearm in exchange for a pledge not to resort to war. But, according to some reports, concessions from the Little Entente neighbors have come too late.

NEW WITNESSES MOUNT STERLING TO PUT SCHULTZ, HINES TOGETHER

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—(UP)—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's agents today sequestered several persons from Connecticut expected to testify next week that James J. Hines, Tammany Hall leader, and the late Dutch Schultz, lottery racketeer, were together week-ends.

The witnesses, nine of whom were reported to be under guard in a hotel, were expected to substantiate the testimony of Dudley Brotherwell, Fairfield Conn., riding master, who said Schultz and his bodyguard, Lulu Rosenkranz, frequently found solace from gang wars on Connecticut bridge paths, and that one Sunday in August, 1935, Hines was with them.

After George Weinberg, who managed the racket for Schultz, had completed four days of incriminating testimony against Hines, court was adjourned for the week-end. Dewey announced he had 37 more witnesses including his star, J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, "attorney general" for the mob, who, like Weinberg, pleaded guilty to the same indictment which named Hines.

SENATE TO TEST F. D.'S CHOICE FOR BOARD JOB

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27—(UP)—A senate vote on confirmation of Donald Wakefield Smith's reappointment to the National Labor Relations board appeared today as the likely major test of President Roosevelt's strength in the new congress, convening in January.

Opposition to Smith, nominated yesterday for a five year term, may find the American Federation of Labor joining anti-Wagner act senators in opposition to the President.

Such a test would provide a guide not only to Mr. Roosevelt's senate strength, but also to the political power of John L. Lewis' C. I. O. which gave passive support to the reappointment of the 38-year-old former Pennsylvania steel worker.

President William Green of the A. F. of L. declined comment after Smith was reappointed, but less than 24 hours before had communicated to the President the federation executive council's protest.

MOUNT STERLING PREPARES FOR HOLIDAY PARTY

Mt. Sterling's Chamber of Commerce is taking no chance on having its annual Christmas treat and entertainment conflict with any other organization.

Announcement has been made that the treat will be held on Dec. 23. The organization has sufficient funds to pay for the treat and decorations this year without solicitations from merchants. A donation of $75 for flood sufferers has been returned to the Christmas fund.

SOUTH CAROLINA TO DECIDE FATE OF F. D.'S FOE

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 27—(UP)—South Carolina voters decide Tuesday whether to re-elect or retire Sen. Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith—the first voters to pass on President Roosevelt's campaign to defeat congressional foes of the New Deal.

The bitter campaign ended last night with Smith and his two New Deal opponents tongue-lashing one another from the same platform. By ancient South Carolina tradition they will enjoy a respite from the turmoil and heat of politics until primary day to make up their minds.

Mr. Roosevelt did not take as strong a stand against Sen. Smith as he did against Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia, Sen. Millard Tydings of Maryland, and Rep. John J. O'Connor of New York. En route to Washington, his train stopped at Greenville and he told a crowd from the rear platform, that he did not believe any man could live on 50 cents a day. Smith is alleged to have so maintained in senate debate, though he has maintained that his remarks were allegorical and were not intended as a serious statement of fact.

Ex-Convict 'Crucified' In Nevada

RENO, Nev., Aug. 27—(UP)—Edward Collins, 27, an ex-convict, told police today that he had been crucified by two men—"Swede" and "Dago".

Earl Dabney, a passing motorist, heard screams to one side of a road outside Reno last night. He called police. Police found a naked man nailed to a cross which had been left flat on the ground. The man was Collins.

The nails were pulled out with pliers and Collins was taken to a hospital. There he was said to be weak from loss of blood and shock, but it was believed he would recover.

Collins, interrogated, told this story.

Met Fellow Ex-Convicts

He was leaving a Baptist Evangelical meeting last night. He met two men who had served time with him in the San Quentin, Cal., penitentiary, known to him only as "Swede" and "Dago". They asked him to "pull some jobs" with them. He refused. They were outraged by his refusal, and one of them said:

"All right, if you want to make a Christ of yourself, we'll help you."

SIMON PLEADS FOR NAZI AID TO END CRISIS

Admiralty Sends 42 Dreadnaughts Into North
Sea for Fall Maneuvers; Cabinet Worried
By Czechoslovakia Developments

HITLER CONTINUES TO HOLD KEY

Daily Mail Says Jugoslavia and Roumania
Asked If They Would Remain Neutral If
Germany Went to Help of Sudetens

BY WEBB MILLER

LONDON, Aug. 27—(UP)—Great Britain threw her full weight into an effort to avert a general European war today.

Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, in a formal statement of Britain's policy, called on Germany to cooperate in preserving peace, and repeated the warning that Britain might be forced into war if Czechoslovakia is invaded.

The admiralty ordered 42 warships of the home fleet into the North Sea for Autumn maneuvers.

The chief of the economic section of the foreign office flew to Czechoslovakia with secret instructions to Viscount Runciman, British mediator there.

Cabinet Worried

The British cabinet was highly disquieted over developments, including the following:

1—Instructions by the Sudeten German minority party in Czechoslovakia to its followers to exercise "the right of self defense" against alleged aggression by Czechs. The matter was regarded as so important that the government took the almost unprecedented step of issuing a semi-official statement deploring the order.

2—A concerted and obviously inspired systematic German press campaign against Czechoslovakia.

3—Reports from Viscount Runciman, British adviser in the Czechoslovak minorities dispute, indicating the possibility that the Czechoslovak government could not be pressed into making sufficient concessions to meet the demands of the Sudeten Germans and Adolf Hitler.

There was every indication that the Czechoslovak situation was entering another period of acute anxiety which would reach its peak during the Nazi party congress at Nuremberg commencing Sept. 5. Government circles admitted to British diplomatic correspondents that another period of strain was approaching.

As a discreet precaution, 42 British warships will be concentrated in the North Sea theatre of operations, early next month. The move is partly a cold business precaution and partly for moral effect in Germany.

Sir John Simon's speech on British policy today was the first of a series by British statesmen designed to prepare public opinion for whatever action the government considers necessary when the time comes.

WAR TALK FILLS CAFES, STREETS IN CZECH CITY

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 27—(UP)—Tension and war talk increased noticeably in cafes and on the streets today.

The Sudeten German party, representing that part of the German minority which seeks autonomy had announced its inability to assume responsibility for attacks against members of the German minority and withdrew orders to members under which there was to be no fighting back.

Authoritative sources had denounced this decree as unlawful and had warned that police would deal energetically with any who (Continued on Page Eight)

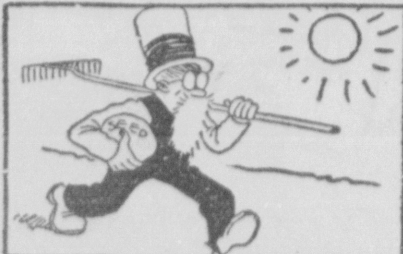

JAPS OPEN BIG EFFORT TO WIN CHINA'S CAPITAL

SHANGHAI, Aug. 27—(UP)—Japanese troops, massed for weeks, started a general offensive at sunrise today in an effort to break the deadlock on the Yangtze and force their way to Hankow, emergency Chinese capital.

It was to be a three way drive. First the Japanese sought to fight directly up the river, 115 air line miles — and many more as the plodding infantrymen go — to Hankow. A second army drove toward Nanchang, planning to strike westward and cut the Hankow-Canton railroad. A third army, North of the Yangtze, drove westward toward the Peiping-Hankow railroad.

The Japanese faced the best Chinese troops, hundreds of thousands of them, in forces ranging from divisions corps, and army strength down to guerrilla bands of a score or so.

PITTSBURGH PIRATES MAY WIN TITLE WITH FEWEST VICTORIES SINCE 1904

ALL NATIONAL LEADERS LOSE FRIDAY GAMES

Rizzo And Handley Benched By Traynor, But Phils Annex Third In Row

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—(UP)—It begins to look as if the 1938 National League championship will go to a team with the fewest number of victories any winner has had since the 154-game schedule was adopted in 1904.

The record for backing into the championship was set at 89 games won, and 65 lost by the St. Louis Cardinals in 1926.

With the exception of the Pittsburgh Pirates, whose lead is getting slimmer and slimmer, first division clubs must play at a much faster clip if they hope to take the pennant with a higher figure than the Cards 89 wins 12 years ago.

The Pirates, with 39 games left to play, could maintain a .538 clip—21 wins and 18 losses—and avoid equalling the Cardinal mark. Their average for the season, with 69 wins and 46 losses, is an even .600. The second-place Giants, with an average today of .560, will have to function at .658 to make it. The Chicago Cubs, 5½ games off the pace, would have to increase their speed from .551 baseball to .694 while the Cincinnati Reds, in fourth place, would have to go up from .542 to .722.

Pirates to Play 39
The Pirates have 39 games to play; the Giants 38; Chicago and Cincinnati each 36.

How ever you look at it, it appears that the league will be beginning for a leader before the end of September because every time the Pirates get far enough out in front to feel comfortable they begin to come apart at the seams and Manager Pie Traynor has to juggle his line-up.

Others Lose, Too

Yesterday, they lost their third straight to the Phillies, 6-4, although Traynor had benched Rizzo and Handley in an effort to get a new winning combination. That defeat didn't affect the Pirates 4½ game lead over the Giants, however, because St. Louis took care of the New Yorkers 7-6. Chicago crept up another game, to within 4½ of the top, with a 7-3 victory over Brooklyn. Cincinnati fell out of its third place tie with the Cubs by losing 6-1 to Boston.

Al Smith, former Giant and Pete Sivess, held the Pirates to seven hits. Traynor called on Rizzo in the ninth as a pinch hitter, but the sensational rookie failed to deliver. The Phils clinched the game with a five-run burst in the fifth.

Don Gutteridge's second triple of the day drove in Johnny Mize in the ninth with the run which enabled the Cards to lick the Giants.

Feller Blasted

In the American league, the Yankees held their 12-game lead by splitting with Cleveland while second-place Boston was dividing with Chicago. The Yanks won the opener 15-9, shelling young Bob Feller unmercifully for seven innings. The Indians won the second game 8-5. Chicago won its opener 12-2 and lost the second 9-8 in 10 innings.

St. Louis and Philadelphia split, the A's taking the opener 11-6 and losing the second 6-4. Detroit licked Washington 9-3.

CINCINNATIANS SUGGEST SEVEN FRAME BALL GAME

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—(UP)—Ford Frick, president of the National league, today was in receipt of the following letter:

"Dear Mr. Frick:
"We the undersigned of Cincinnati, propose to the National Base Ball League, Inc., a resolution to be submitted at your next regular meeting:

"Resolved that the length of the game played in the National league be limited to seven innings instead of nine innings as is now the rule, this change to take place immediately, and the new rule to read that the regulation game consist of seven innings.

"Two advantages as we see it are, first it would allow the players additional time to catch trains, and the second and most important, it would be to prevent the Cincinnati Reds from losing so many games in the last two innings.

"Very sincerely,
"The Loyal Cincinnati Fans."
The letter was signed by 93 fans.

YESTERDAY'S HERO—Don Gutteridge, St. Louis Cardinal third-baseman, whose second triple of the day drove in the winning run against the Giants with two out in the ninth.

Football Action—and No Fooling

SUMMER lingers but the hosts of football rush upon the stage. Rush is the word, friends, as this action shot of the New York gridiron Giants in training at Pearl River, N. Y., clearly proves. It's a hot scrimmage.

Collapse Of Reds Cuts Team's Chance For Title

CINCINNATI, Aug. 27—(UP)—The collapse of the Cincinnati Reds in the current series with the Boston Bees when they have tossed away golden opportunities to throw themselves into the thick of the National league's unsettled pennant race today was traceable directly to the failure of the club's "power" hitters.

In Ival Goodman, Frank McCormick, Ernie Lombardi and Wally Berger the Reds have batsmen in who are depended on to carry the club's offense. Yet against the Bees all four have failed miserably.

Cincinnati suffered its third straight defeat at the hands of Boston here yesterday by a 6 to 1 count.

The Reds were handcuffed most of the time by the diversified slants of young Johnny Lanning. They secured only seven well spaced hits and garnered their only run in the sixth inning.

In the three games of the series against Boston, Goodman, McCormick, Lombardi and Berger have gone to the plate a total of 51 times. Among them they have made only nine hits for a paltry .176 average. That very forcibly tells the story of the defeats.

Paul Derringer, the right-handed ace of the Cincinnati staff and one of the league's greatest hurlers, had one of his rare off days. He was pounded for all of Boston's runs and 12 hits in the eight innings he worked. Only brilliant defensive work of his mates saved him from taking a worse beating. The defeat was Derringer's 10th.

INDIAN HURLERS GIVE 70 SCORES IN SEVEN GAMES

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—(UP)—Manager Oscar Vitt of the Cleveland Indians had a "look at the record" of the Tribe's current Eastern tour today and winced at his findings.

Cleveland has won only two of the seven games played on its present invasion and the reason is simple. In the seven contests the Indian hurlers have given up a total of 70 runs.

That Cleveland can win with a fair brand of pitching was proved in the nightcap here yesterday when it downed the New York Yankees 8 to 5. The Yanks won the opener 15 to 9.

Willis Hudlin, the veteran right-hander upon whom Vitt calls only when all other members of the mound corps fail, went the route in the second contest and held New York to five hits.

Steve Sundra and Ivy Paul Andrews worked for the Yanks and were nicked for 11 safeties. The first game was a slaughter with young Bob Feller being the "sacrificial lamb."

The Iowa schoolboy had another streak of wildness and was in constant trouble. New York combed him for 15 hits in the seven innings he worked. In addition Feller issued nine bases on balls. The Yankees made two runs off Feller in the first, three more in second, seven in the fifth and three in the seventh after which he retired in favor of rookie Ken Jungles.

Wesley Ferrell, the temperamental right-hander who received his major league start with the Indians, opened the contest for New York and worked 5½ innings to gain credit for the victory. Johnny Murphy finished the contest.

The clubs play another double-header today.

CAIN'S MARKET TOPS FEED CREW IN HECTIC GAME

Score Is 9-7; Schedule Of Games Revised For Next Week

Cain's food market softballers put on the elimination squeeze, Friday evening, to almost remove the Eshelman Feeds from second half title consideration in the city loop. The score was 9 to 7, only five innings being played because of darkness.

The food market lads smacked Lloyd Leasure's offerings to all corners of the lot in the first inning, a single, double, triple and pitcher's error followed by a fly ball accounting for four markers. In the second session the South Bloomfielders drove in three more with Chuck Young providing the big blow, a home run with two mates on the paths. The Feeds had tallied three runs in their half of the second or three walks, a single and double.

The Feeds counted another in the fourth and two in the fifth but two markers scored by the Cains in their half of the fourth clinched the ball game.

The contest was loosely played, 16 hits being scored in the five innings and nine errors being chalked up, seven against the losers.

A. Roof started on the hill for the winners, Callahan coming in when the going became too tough. Leasure was the Eshelman starter. Carl Purcell relieving him.

Schedule Revised
A revision in the schedule for next week is necessary because of an error in scheduling. The revised schedule follows:

Monday: Bronzeville Jollies vs. Blue Ribbon Dairy.
Tuesday: Fenton Cleaners vs. Gitt's food market.
Wednesday: Eshelman Feeds vs. Purina Feeds.
Thursday: Circleville Oils vs. Fenton Cleaners.
Friday: Cain's food market vs. Purina Feeds.

The only game left on the schedule, providing rain doesn't interfere with either of the scheduled contests next week, will be between Eshelman Feeds and Fenton Cleaners the following Monday.

GARDEN, JACOBS SIGN CONTRACT TO STOP FEUD

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—(UP)—Madison Square garden and Mike Jacobs' 20th Century Club, formerly the Hatfields and McCoys of Cauliflower Alley, today were united as "partners" for promotion of boxing in New York and other cities.

A four-year contract, retroactive to May 31 of this year, was signed yesterday. Under its terms, the garden cuts in on profits of all Jacobs' bouts—including all those since May 31. Jacobs' club has exclusive boxing privileges at the Garden and Garden bowl.

It was the first contract partner the garden has had since the late Tex Rickard and his 600-odd millionaires built the $5,500,000 sports emporium in 1925.

The action elevates Jacobs to the throne once occupied by Rickards but gives him even greater power than Tex and because Mike is entirely independent of any responsibility to the garden.

W. P. A. WORKER, RAILROADER IN GOLFING FINALE

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27—(UP)—A Cleveland W. P. A. worker who wants to be a golf professional and an Oregon railroad man who'd rather play for fun meet today for the National Public Links golf championship.

The home town player is Al Leach, 26, city municipal champion, who works as time-keeper at the Work Relief headquarters. His opponent is Louis Cyr, 31, of Portland, who had to beat 17 other players in a qualifying playoff to get into the match play rounds.

Their match is at 36 holes over the Highland Park course and as they teed off this morning galleryites said it was a toss-up. Both overcame tremendous odds in their 36-hole semi-final matches yesterday, opponents of both carrying them to the last hole before bowing out of the tournament, which is the one big national event for non-club member golfers.

Most of Europe's troubles may come from not playing ball.

COSHOCTON MAN WINS NATIONAL AT VANDALIA, O.

VANDALIA, Aug. 27—(UP)—The 39th Grand American Trapshooting tournament was written into the record books today and, as usual, an unknown was marked up as winner of its blue-ribbon event.

He was Oretelio W. (Ted) West, a 45-year-old highway superintendent from Coshocton, O., who won the Grand American handicap, an event which knows no favorites. Until yesterday he had been shooting in tournaments for 17 years, including seven "Grand," with little success.

West won the tournament's big event in a shoot-off against Parr Rhines, 37-year-old Marshall, Ill., hardware dealer. Both tied with 99 out of 100 targets in the regulation shoot, with West firing from the 20-yard line, Rhines from the 19. In the shoot-off, West hit 23 out of 25 pigeons; Rhines cracked 22.

The victory was worth approximately $3,000.

Frank G. Carroll of Brecksville, O., defending champion, broke 93 birds. Eight other former champions in the field of 812 shooters failed to better 94.

Mrs. George Peters of Springfield, O., daughter of Charles (Sparrow) Young, the 1926 Grand Handicap winner, turned in an upset victory by winning the Grand American Women's championship. Shooting from 17 yards, she won a shoot-off from Mrs. Lela Hall of Strasburg, Mo., recognized as the greatest woman trapshooter in the country. The winner broke 24 out of 25 against 22 for Mrs. Hall who shot from the 22 yards.

High professional in the "Grand" was J. B. Grier of Rockland, Del., with 98 hits from 25-yards.

Officialdom vs. Officialdom
MARYSVILLE, Cal. (UP)—A woman telephoned police that there was a "suspicious character" prowling about her home. A broadcast was made to all police cars, and Patrolman Leo Stein's car, cruising up, caught an official agricultural inspector in charge, inspecting for puncture vine, performing his duties.

England's indignant because some military academy students painted green the ancient stone monuments at Stonehenge. But the Wruids would probably have liked it.

Pitt's Power Appears On Par With 1937 Team

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27—(UP)—The unbeatable Pitt Panthers—at least they were last year—will gather on the campus practice field Labor Day, Sept. 5, to prepare for another football season which promises to be just as successful as last year's.

The University of Pittsburgh's football team will be operating under a revised athletic code, containing strict scholastic requirements, but that fact will not make them a soft touch for any of their 10 opponents.

The new athletic code, adopted by the athletic council last February, forbids financial aid to any athlete, outlaws the use of a training camp at Windber, Pa., and a training table for the athletes. The training camp hasn't been used for several years.

Despite the new restrictions, Coach Jock Sutherland will have a squad of 54 players—three more than last year—including 22 sophomores—five more than he had last season.

15th Year For Sutherland
Starting his 15th season at Pitt, Sutherland and his staff of seven assistants, all former Pitt players, will have 22 veterans, including 17 lettermen, around which to build their team.

The 1938 Panthers promise to be one of the most powerful offensive teams in Sutherland's coaching career, solely because Marshall Goldberg, Dick Cassiano and Harold Stebbins are returning for another fling at gridiron glory. Last year with Cassiano playing as a substitute to Goldberg, the Panthers scored 203 points. This year both Cassiano and Goldberg will be in the lineup at the same time.

Goldberg, all-America halfback last season, goes to fullback to make way for Cassiano. This pair will give Pitt one of the hardest running and blocking combinations imaginable.

Cassiano Climax Runner
Cassiano, from Albany, N. Y., was only a substitute last season, but he gained 620 yards by rushing and scored seven touchdowns, most of them on long runs.

The switching of Goldberg to fullback, it is believed, will make him more potent than ever. He is noted for his line plunging and blocking and is made to order to carry out Sutherland's system of fakes and spinners that the fullback must execute. Goldberg gained 890 yards from scrimmage in his sophomore year and 701 yards last season.

Stebbins, of Williamsport, Pa., now a senior, is a two-letter man, and will hold down the starting position at right halfback. He is a fine defensive back and a slippery ball carrier, especially off the tackles. He gained 100 yards more

CLEVELAND MAY PUT ATHLETES ON THE BLOCK

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27—(UP)—Three Cleveland Indian baseball players probably will be offered for sale shortly, President Alva Bradley indicated today.

He announced plans for building a 1939 American league pennant contender with "a nucleus of youngsters" and said he felt that it could function without:

Lyn Lary, regular short-stop and a consistent early season hitter who slows down later in the campaign.

Julius Solters, outfielder and utility infielder.

John Kroner, second-string second baseman.

It was reported without confirmation that two other players might be offered for sale—Earl Averill, hard-hitting outfielder, and Sammy Hale, first-string second baseman.

TED WILLIAMS READY TO TAKE MAJOR POSITION

COLUMBUS, Aug. 27—(UP)—If the Minneapolis Millers fail to get into the American Association play-off watch for the name of Ted Williams, 19-year-old outfielder, in major league box scores after Sept. 11.

Minneapolis is now engaged in a bitter three-way battle with Milwaukee and Toledo for a place in the post-season struggles and may make the grade. If the Millers fail Williams is certain to be called up immediately by the Boston Red Sox, who own his contract.

As the Millers split a double-header yesterday with Indianapolis Williams pounded out four hits in seven trips to the plate to boost his average near the .370 mark. One of the safeties was his 40th home run of the campaign.

Williams is far from a defensive genius, but has proved to be one of the finest natural hitters to come up through Association ranks in many years.

Minneapolis dropped the first game to Indianapolis 12 to 5 and then snared the nightcap 6 to 4. Kansas City bid a regretful farewell to the Columbus Red Birds by halving a double-header. The Blues won the first contest 8 to 6 and dropped the second 3 to 1.

In 21 games between the two clubs, Kansas City won 19.

A two hit pitching performance by Merritt Cain, veteran right-hander, gave St. Paul an even break with Louisville. Cain won his game 8 to 0. The Colonels took the first 6 to 5 in 10 innings.

Toledo put on a six run splurge in the eighth inning to beat Milwaukee 7 to 6.

Thrift in Salvation Army
TORONTO, Ont. (UP)—A sewing machine and a seal coat were left to the Salvation Army here in the wills of two women. The sewing machine was put into active service and the fur coat was sold and the money was used to purchase clothing more suitable for needy people.

At the news of his sons' death and the capture of the ark Eli fell backward in the city gate and died of a broken heart. (GOLDEN TEXT—Proverbs 22:6.)

PRISON SCANDALS

THE discovery of prisoners dead in the Philadelphia prison the other day, with every reason to suspect their deaths as anything but natural, opens the door once more on horrible prison conditions obtaining in many such places.

Some time, it is evident, this nation must take a year or two off from most of its other meditations and activities and give real attention to the whole prison problem. Only by general knowledge of the conditions, only by concentrated thought on what they ought to be, will any improvement be reached.

One of the first superstitions which ought to be given up is that the state ought to "punish," that is, to take revenge, for offenses against its laws.

The state's fundamental right and duty is that of protection of the innocent citizen. If penal legislation were based logically on that premise, emphasizing protection and omitting the revenge motive, the whole situation could get a chance to clear.

There are individuals who need to be segregated for the sake of keeping them harmless to society. There is no occasion to pamper them while so segregated. But neither is there occasion for filth or cruelty, and above all there is no occasion for idleness. The state owes decent food and clean quarters to persons so held. In so far as is possible, the prisoner should be made to contribute to his own support and that of his dependents. He should not be allowed to be a dead loss to the taxpayer.

The deprivation of liberty may be a deterrent to crime. It is in itself one of the most serious abridgements of the rights of man. "Punishment" as at present constituted is no deterrent. The prisons are merely hotbeds for the breeding of criminals.

Improving penal legislation will not be easy. It needs keen vision. But most of our present methods are thoroughly bad. They destroy what little power for decency and reform there may be. The medical man, the psychiatrist, the social worker, the sane but experienced prison executive must all contribute to a better situation. The voter must sustain their decisions.

The Japanese complain that they can't keep order in China. Did anybody ask them to?

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up early to a grand morning and thoroughly in accord with Rousseau's theory that "Patience is bitter, but its fruit is sweet." For hadn't the day brought proof of something I had long suspected, but had been unable to prove? The very sweetest of juicy fruit!

Early in the month Steddom, the photographer, displayed a snapshot of the scrivener, caught on a hot day at a pre-primary political assembly. Personally, I thought the picture looked too much like me to be good. It did attract some attention and directed a liberal amount of gibes at the scrivener. Then, the scrivener's picture was withdrawn and in its place appeared a remarkable photographic study of a mule's head.

Dirty work at Main and Court! Some jokester was behind that. And what is more, a jokester with a knowledge of mules. Carl Hunter laughed louder and longer than the others. I thought I detected a note or two that bordered on a bray. When suspicion is stirred in a newspaperman he investigates. He goes right to the bottom of things and sometimes he prints what he finds and sometimes he doesn't.

Covered by the dust of nineteen long years was the picture reproduced with this column today. The discoverer of the picture accompanied it by a note that "the air of indefinable mutuality: that permeates the picture should escape no one. This is quite rare and highly complimentary when coming from a Missouri mule."

The taller figure in the picture is Carl Hunter, then a flour merchant at Kansas City, Mo. Whether the animal in the picture is a burro or an infant version of Steddom's mule I am not certain. Anyway, the pair appears quite friendly. I always was afraid of the darned things.

Quoting further from the letter that accompanied the snapshot of Carl:

"We immensely enjoyed your recent confessions relating to Photographer Steddom's patient persistence in trying to display by picture a true likeness of the scrivener through the trial and error method. We are interested also to note that this unusual procedure finally attracted the attention of Carl Hunter. (Carl has always had a yearning for art.)"

"At my father's suggestion, (Dad belongs to the old Grover Cleveland vintage) I am enclosing a snapshot of Carl Hunter taken 19 years ago. The picture should explain Carl's keenness in spotting Photographer Steddom's remarkable talent.

"It would probably not be out of order to state for the benefit of those who suffer from astigmatism or antineuralism that Carl is the one on the right."

My, oh my, oh my, what a grand day!

PECORA WOULD BE PROSECUTOR

NEW YORK—Intimate friends of Ferdinand Pecora will tell you that, in his heart, he would far rather be standing in young Tom Dewey's shoes prosecuting Jimmy Hines, than to be sitting bedecked in the black robe of a judge conducting the sensational Tammany trial.

"Ferd" is just built that way. To the tips of his fingers he is a crusader, a resourceful, indefatigable and indomitable battler for causes.

Long before anyone ever heard of Dewey, Pecora was rocking the nation and making history with his spectacular investigation of the greatest financial powers in the world—J. P. Morgan & Co., the Chase National Bank, the First National Bank, Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and the New York Stock Exchange. That was really BIG game hunting with mighty national issues at stake.

Out of Pecora's disclosures came three of the most far-reaching reforms of the New Deal—the Securities Act, the law creating the Securities and Exchange Commission, and the Holding Company Act.

Following this, Pecora might have been the man standing in Dewey's shoes but for Tammany Hall.

In 1933, thrilled by the magnitude of his extraordinary achievements in Washington, Manhattan liberals ran him as an independent for District Attorney. But the Wigwam, while suffering defeat at the hands of Fiorello LaGuardia for the mayoralty, was still strong enough to elect its own man to the District Attorney's office in New York County.

It was this triumph which four years later was to open the way for Dewey and his big chance—the Hines trial.

And Pecora, by now elevated to the State Supreme Court, was especially singled out by Governor Lehman to preside over the Dewey prosecutions. What thoughts may run through Pecora's mind as he sits on his judicial dais are his alone. But it is not unlikely that he frequently wishes he were down in the fighting arena before him.

LIFE-LONG FIGHTER

Fighting comes natural to Pecora. He had to fight hard for everything he ever got in life.

Born 56 years ago in the small village of Nicosia, Sicily, he was brought to the U. S. by his parents when five years old. In his early teens his father died and Pecora took up the burden of supporting his mother, smaller brothers and sisters.

His great ambition was to be a lawyer, but it was not until he was 27 years old that he was able to realize it. The need of supporting his family while working his way through school made it difficult to battle his way to the goal.

The picture of "Nonstop" Corrigan in that Irish jaunting car does seem to explain the mystery of his flight. While the passenger faces backward, the car goes forward.

Smallpox A Menace; Vaccinate Against It

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WE POINTED out yesterday the fundamental necessity of diphtheria immunization for every child entering school for the first time. Parents may neglect this in infancy, or feel that the child is too young to have these treatments, but when the school age comes along, all such procrastinations should come to an end.

What other immunizations should be made at this period? Well, it hardly seems that it should be necessary to speak of smallpox vaccination again, but apparently it is. We have been lulled to security about smallpox because the practice of vaccination almost drove it, like diphtheria, from the modern world, and parents are not so strict about having vaccination done as they were in my day.

But contagious diseases sleep; they do not die. Smallpox still exists around and about. Every one dren should be protected by vaccination.

Done Every Seven Years

Incidentally, re-vaccination should be done every seven years for about three times—that is to say, the first vaccination should be made during the first year, then re-vaccination at seven, 14 and 21 years. After that immunity is supposed to be complete.

Immunity to diphtheria lasts a long time after toxoid administration. We have not been giving it long enough to know just how long, but six or seven years at least. The longer in life it is given, the longer the immunity lasts.

Another argument for early administration. One other disease for which we have efficient immunization is typhoid fever, and while there is not the danger of contracting this in school so much because it is not spread by contact, still it seems to me since we face the question of immunization now, it is just as well to think of anti-typhoid vaccination.

Of course, all these immunizations should not be given close together. This little sermon of mine is really meant for the parents of children who will be going to school next year or year after next. With that much time in reserve, all three of these prophylactic measures can be given without any crowding for time.

CHAPTER 1

JUDY ROGERS' slim, browned hand was actually trembling as she dialed Craig Denby's telephone number. She looked at it in astonishment. It was ridiculous for her nerves to grow acrobatic just because she was telephoning a tall young man, with humorous blue eyes that could be very serious when he said, "I love you," and a profile that would have meant better business for Hollywood.

The hand wobbled a little more. So Judy hung up.

She met her own reflection in the long mirror of her dressing table. No, she hadn't changed much since morning. No one, unless he looked deeply into her brown eyes, could tell that she wanted to cry. Wanted to cry dreadfully. The dark hair, that she wore in a long bob on her slender neck, curled just as it always had. Her tilted nose retained its seven freckles, donated by the summer's swimming, golfing and tennis.

Outwardly nothing about her had changed. Nothing at all! That was funny—your whole life could be upset and yet you looked the same. But inwardly...

She clutched the telephone again, and sank back among the flowered cushions of the chaise longue. This time her hand was steady on the dial.

She loved Craig. She had known it all summer. She had not realized how much until lately. Now she wished that she had told him so Thursday night when he had asked her, as he had been doing for so long now. Thursday night—that was four days ago—she and Craig had been dinner guests at the Bantres, on Long Island. Late in the evening they had gone walking, along the terrace, and Craig, tall and handsome in white flannels and blue coat, had caught her hands with swift impatience.

"Judy, sweet, how many more times must I ask you to marry me before you'll say 'yes'?" Or aren't you going to say it, my darling?" She had worn a white chiffon dress whose ruffles were edged with silver, and there had been silver leaves in her black hair, silver slippers on her feet. The dress was new...

"The last new dress I'll have for a long, long time," she murmured now. For she would marry Craig because she loved him, but she would not let him buy her any dresses or shoes. Not even a powder puff! Not until he understood that she was coming to him because she wanted to, not because a headline in the paper had frightened her.

If only, only she had told him she loved him before! While the telephone peeped in Craig's apartment far across the city, Judy remembered her answer to Craig on the moon-bright terrace, with a blue sea far below.

"I'm afraid, Craig. Haven't I told you before?" "But I'll cure your fear. We'll be happy forever!"

She had been sweet and serious in the moonlight. "Forever is such a long word, Craig. And it doesn't stretch down the years. If love lasted—but it doesn't! My mother and my father were divorced when I was six! Aunt Polly's been married three times. Your own parents, too, Craig! And at boarding school there were so many of us from broken homes, we had a D.D. club—daughters of divorce. No, Craig, I'm afraid of marriage!"

"You've said all of this before, honey," Craig had reproved her. "Let's skip it. Here's the issue! Judy, do you love me?" She did. But if she told him so, he would sweep all of her fears into the shining sea. So she hesitated, and in that moment someone joined them. Sooner or later, though, she knew she would marry Craig. Maybe love deceived you, but you couldn't hold out against it forever.

The bell was ringing loudly in Craig's apartment, but he did not answer. She waited. He must, he must be there!

As he left her Thursday night he had said: "I'm going away for the week-end, Judy. I'll be back sometime about noon Monday. At the apartment, probably. I'll give you a ring."

Well, he hadn't. So she was telephoning him. "Hello!" That was Craig. But his voice sounded drowsy. Half asleep.

"Judy, are you all right?" "Of course, nut. It was a shock, that's all. When your favorite beau comes back from a week-end with a charming bride, you silly goof, a girl has a right to a few

She hadn't heard him correctly, of course.

"Craig, it's Judy!" "Judy! And what are you doing up at the crack of dawn, my sweet one?"

"It isn't the crack of dawn, young man. It's a quarter of 12. I thought you were just in from the country."

There was a pause, almost as though he wondered just how to pattern his next words.

He was speaking. "I came home late last night, Judy. Or early this morning, if you want to be literal. I threw my weary bones across the bed and forgot there was a world until the telephone rang."

She laughed. She couldn't stop. It was prompted by relief. So Craig had not read the news. He didn't know that her father was bankrupt, wiped out, penniless. "Craig darling—I want to see you."

"A ticket for speeding again?" "Much more serious."

"You were impudent with the cop and it didn't go?"

It was such foolish chatter. Why didn't he drop it? Why prolong the banter? Or why couldn't she come right out and say: "Craig, I do love you. You asked me to let you know when I was ready. And my father's finances have nothing, nothing to do with that. Oh, please, believe me, Craig! To prove it I won't let you give me one thing. I won't marry until I have a job. Only keep loving me."

But she didn't say it. Maybe she wouldn't have anyway, but Craig interrupted before she could speak again.

"Judy, I have an important announcement. Listening?" Again a pause, so brief it almost didn't happen. Then: "Honey, I was married last night."

"Oh, Craig!" She hadn't heard him correctly, of course. Or he was teasing her. Craig was going to marry her, Judy Rogers! Hadn't he been asking her for years... three of them, anyway? But she must answer him lightly—"With a book and a ring and a bride, Craig!" she asked, forcing her husky voice to follow a gay pattern.

"The prettiest bride you ever saw, Judy. We went to Greerwich. It was all so sudden, you see..."

"Yes, yes, of course." So he was married. Married to some strange person, or maybe not strange. She must find out.

"Whom did you marry, Craig? Do I know her?" "I don't think so. I didn't either until I met her at the house party. She's Mary Banner, a southern girl, minister's daughter and all that, who's been doing bits on the radio."

A moment before the wire that carried Judy's voice to Craig had been a shining, vibrant cord that drew them close. Now he was—somebody else's husband.

Because she had to breathe deeply before she could answer him, the man spoke quickly, concern in his deep tones.

"Judy, are you all right?" "Of course, nut. It was a shock, that's all. When your favorite beau comes back from a week-end with a charming bride, you silly goof, a girl has a right to a few gasps. Here I was depending on your devotion until I was a nice old lady."

He laughed, and she knew that he did not suspect that a crack was beginning in her heart, growing wider and wider, just as a crevice started in the earth when there was to be a crater.

"Judy, you were right about everything. If you had ever intended to agree to my repeated request, you would have done it right off the bat. You had more sense than I had. Some day you'll meet a better guy who'll knock your tears into a jelly bean."

"I could make you a bet on it, Craig, but I'd win hands down," she heard her voice answering. "Marry? Not ever! Craig was gone, and with him her last belief that maybe, just maybe, love could last. But she must talk. "But I haven't congratulated you at all. I do, with all my heart. Tell Mary Banner she has my favorite choice of husband, if I wanted one, and I want to see her soon."

"You will. She went back to her own apartment last night to pack up. We're taking a short cruise, leaving this evening. We'll see you when we get back, Judy." She hung up. The long room had not changed. Only she, Judy Rogers, was different. Craig was gone. The pain she experienced was so real, so cold, she jumped up and began to change her dress quickly.

Her father's money was gone, too. That thought gave her an idea. She picked up the telephone again and dialed another number.

She asked for her father's attorney.

"It's important, Miss Rogers?" the man's secretary asked, and she discerned the pity that threatened the girl's tones. Pity, and yet secret joy that Judy Rogers, the most popular debutante of her season, three years before, had slipped from her pedestal with the going of her father's fortune.

"I'm afraid so, Miss Martin. My father wanted Mr. Heaton to explain some of the intricacies of the—the financial upset to me. He's tied up in conferences, you see."

"Just a moment, please." "Miss Rogers? Mr. Heaton is tied up in court today but he suggested I see you. This is Ronald Birrell. I joined the firm last month, you see. Suppose we make it a luncheon conference if you are free?"

Ronald Birrell—she had heard of him.

"Well, then, the Waldorf at 1?" she asked, naming a familiar luncheon place.

She heard a long whistle over the telephone. "Listen, Judy Rogers, we dine at cafeterias, marble-topped restaurants, places you've never been. Lunch with me means Childs."

If she hadn't been so upset, Judy might have laughed. But she had been hurt cruelly a moment before, so she said:

"You're trying to tell me, I suppose, that I should get started in on the automats—now that I'm poor!"

"You're a mind reader. I always liked bright young women. Well, is it Childs' or not?"

LET HIM OVERRUFF
MOST DECLARERS hate to have a defender overruff with a trump which could have been captured. There are contracts, however, which cannot be made except through allowing the opponent to do that very thing. If it saves running several rounds of trumps which use up trumps needed for a number of ruffs, the one trick investment may pay big dividends.

This deal arose in a rubber game and the North-South team ended in a contract of 5-Clubs. South started with 1-Diamond, West called 1-Heart, North 1-Spade, South 2-Clubs, North 3-Clubs and South 5-Clubs.

The play was nicely handled by the declarer, who won the lead of the heart Q with the A and immediately led a diamond. He then cashed the heart K to prevent a discard. Next he played the diamond A and ruffed a diamond with the club 7. East overruffed with the K and returned a club. South won this and ruffed another diamond. He then returned to his hand by means of a heart ruff to enable him to ruff his fifth diamond. A spade was then led and captured by East, who had nothing to return but another spade or a trump. He chose the spade and South trumped, and drew East's remaining trumps. Only two tricks were lost by this method of play.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

WIRE WORMS are a menace to the lawn, flower beds and vegetable garden. They are often found in abundance in light soils. Plants which have been attacked by wire worms begin to look sickly and when dug up it will be found that the worms have eaten practically all the roots.

Shown in the Garden-Graph is a picture of the wire worm about twice the size of the actual worm. The worm is the larva of the click beetle. It is 1½ inches long, slim and either orange-brown or yellow in color. As these worms live to ripe age of five years, they provide a perennial problem for the gardener.

MAJOR CHARLES BUTLER, NATIVE OF CITY, IS DEAD

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon in Plain City for Major Charles Andrew Butler 80, native of Circleville, who died Thursday.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lee Butler. Major Butler was prominent in Knights of Pythias circles and organizer of numerous bands. He married Miss Harriet Morgridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Morgridge, of Madison county. Major Butler left Circleville many years ago.

Besides his widow he leaves a son, L. W., of Philadelphia, Pa.; three daughters, Mrs. Hester Sutherland of Washington C. H., Mrs. Helen Rausch of Marysville, and Mrs. Madge Means of Upper Arlington.

Mrs. Minnie B. Weaver and Mrs. Ida B. Moore, both of Circleville, are sisters, and Earl Weaver, 471 Half avenue, is a nephew.

Theatres

AT THE GRAND

"Four Men and a Prayer", starring Loretta Young and a brilliant cast, appears at the Grand theatre Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The picture is rated as one of the best of the year.

AT THE CLIFTONA

ROBERT TAYLOR plays his first prizefight role in "The Crowd Roars," action-packed story of the modern prize ring, opening Sunday at the Cliftona Theatre for an engagement of three days.

Maureen O'Sullivan, who played opposite the star in "A Yank at Oxford," is once again cast as Taylor's heroine in the new picture and an exceptional cast of prominent screen names includes Edward Arnold as a racketeer, Frank Morgan as Taylor's father, an ex-vaudeville "ham," William Gargan, Lionel Stander and Jane Wyman.

Based on a story by George Bruce, author of "Navy Blue and Gold," the picture reveals behind-the-scenes activities of the boxing game, with Taylor as a pawn in the shady manipulations of a gambling syndicate.

"The Crowd Roars" offers Taylor in the hardest-hitting role of his career as Tommy McCoy, the boy from the wrong side of the tracks, who fights his way up from the slums to a chance at the lightweight championship.

AT THE CIRCLE

Back in 1849 things were vastly different to what we have come to consider ordinary conditions in the thirty thirties of the twentieth century. In "The Forty-Niners," a Monarch Epic of the West starring Tom Tyler, and now playing an engagement at the Circle Theatre, the changes which the past century have brought about come forcibly to one's attention.

There were no high-heeled cowboy boots—guns were not in the Chicago manner—but were all muzzle-loaders. There were, too, no bobbed haired girls.

Epic saga of the West and the story of how law and order supplanted the reign of the six-gun "The Bad Man of Brimstone," starring Wallace Beery, will open at the Circle Theatre Sunday.

Famous for his portrayals of bad man roles, Beery, as leader of a gang of outlaws who rule the town of Brimstone, is offered one of the finest opportunities of his long cinematic career.

The part of the son is taken by Dennis O'Keefe, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's newest discovery. O'Keefe falls in love with the daughter of Brimstone's crooked judge, Virginia Bruce.

Indianapolis, Ind., had the first union railroad station in the United States.

STROUDS MISS CONVENTION

Program complications at the last moment this week kept Clarence and Claude Stroud from planning to Chicago to the American Twins' Convention at the Morrison Hotel.

The famous twins had been invited to attend as guests of honor, and had planned to be present until producers called an early-in-the-week rehearsal for the Sunday coffee show.

Disappointed, the Strouds wired the assembled twins an invitation to convene in Hollywood next year.

JANE STOPPED TRAINS

When beautiful Jane Froman appeared as guest artist on Chicago's Grant Park concerts, Friday, August 26, she even stopped railroad traffic.

The lovely singing star, who rose from Chicago radio ranks to stardom in the Ziegfeld Follies and in motion pictures, was paid this unusual tribute because previous broadcasts of the concerts had been marred by the noise of switching trains on the Illinois Central Railroad near the concert hall in Grant Park. In order to be certain that radio listeners would hear her without interference, the railroad agreed to revise the schedule of moving perishable goods in their yards to stop all traffic during her broadcast.

MAN WITH TWO MINDS

Terry Regan and his pretty wife, Sally, will delve into the mysteries of the subconscious after they become involved in a kidnapping during the "Case of the Man With Two Minds" on the "Attorney at Law" broadcast over an NBC-Red network Tuesday, August 30, at 9:30 p. m.

Regan, the adventurous young attorney, will be played by Henry Hunter, motion picture favorite, and Sally, by Betty Winkler, network leading lady. The solution to the baffling case will come only after Terry has worked himself into a nervous breakdown which threatens his health. They will be supported by an all-star radio cast.

E. S. NEUDING AND HARPER NAMED TO U. B. CHAIRS

E. S. Neuding, E. Main street, Friday was named conference treasurer at the annual election of the Southeastern Ohio Conference of the United Brethren Churches in session in Chillicothe.

The Rev. T. C. Harper, pastor of the Circleville church, was elected on the Board of Christian Education.

The choir of the United Brethren church of Circleville furnished the music at the Friday evening meeting of the conference. The Rev. William Kuhen, formerly of Circleville, is pastor of the host church.

The choir was directed by Charles Kirkpatrick with the following members present: Ross Kirkpatrick and daughter, Miss Mary Ellen, the Misses Betty Jane and Lucille May, Mrs. Iley Greeno, Miss Nellie Denman, Mrs. James Pearce and daughter, Miss Evelyn, Mrs. William Hegele, Miss Lucille and Montford Kirkwood, the Misses Ruth Esther Gard, Katherine Turner, Dorothy Jenkins, Mrs. Ralph Long, James Trimmer, Clifford Kerns and Glenn Cook.

The address of the evening was given by Dr. O. T. Deever of Dayton, general secretary of young peoples' work in the conference. His subject was, "The Home, Today."

The conference will continue through Sunday.

I believe that when a man has spent his allotted time on this earth and has passed on to the next phase, there is only one of two things you can say about it—he's either enjoyed his stay here or he hasn't. That's the reason, I think, a man who is working at something he enjoys, even though he makes a bare livin', is much better off than the man who amasses a fortune through drudgery.

I knew an old banker, who just before he died, said if he had it to live over again, he'd live the life of a fireman. He said that had always been his lifelong ambition. I says "Well, is it because you wanted a chance to save a life or a limb?" And he says "No—all my life I've liked to sit and picture things in the fire!"

Ohio Children Invited To Visit Memorial to Perry

Ohio school children—each and every one of them, including those from Pickaway county have been invited to make a patriotic and educational pilgrimage to Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry's memorial monument at Put-in-Bay, Ohio, on Sept. 9.

Sept. 9 is the opening day of a three-day program commemorating the 125th anniversary of Commodore Perry's victory on Lake Erie in the War of 1812 and the subsequent years of peace with the Dominion of Canada.

On Friday, Sept. 9, free transportation will be given to all Ohio school children from Sandusky to Put-in-Bay on board the Steamer Goodtime. At the Perry monument a speaker of national prominence will present the importance and significance of the memorial.

A parade and song fest will be held in Sandusky in the evening. "In this celebration of the 125th anniversary of Perry's victory the theme of peace is being emphasized," H. D. Hopkins, executive secretary of the Perry Memorial and Peace Commission, wrote to George D. McDowell recently.

Very Hopeful

"We are very hopeful also that wherever possible schools will bring marching units, singing units, bands or bugle corps to participate in the program," Hopkins wrote.

"I hope that it is possible for your school to be represented not only in people who will participate in the pilgrimage to the Island, but in the other events as well," his letter concluded.

On Saturday, Sept. 10, an assembly of sailing boats will race to Put-in-Bay, although the major events of the day will take place in Sandusky. Officials of nine states will be welcomed in Sandusky on Saturday and Wallace McClure of the department of state will speak at the official banquet in the evening. A beautiful, historic pageant will be presented, free of charge, at 9:30 p. m. Maj. Gen. Smedley Butler, U. S. Marines, retired, will speak at Put-in-Bay.

Sunday, Sept. 11, Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the department of interior, will deliver an address at the island which will be followed by a program in keeping with the union memorial services which will open the day's activities.

Thousands of school children, civic and patriotic leaders from all parts of Ohio are expected to join in this celebration, which is nationwide in scope and which was authorized by a congressional resolution and appropriation.

Officials of the program have announced the entire three day program has been designed to be of interest to everyone, with color, action, and educational themes abounding.

Officials Named

School superintendents, county commissioners, prosecuting attorneys, common pleas and probate court judges, county extension agents, 4-H club leaders, luncheon officials, and others from each county in Ohio have been named to the Honorary Perry Celebration Committee to aid with the congressional commission in arranging local observances and participation.

Members of the commission are Congressman Dow W. Harter, Akron, O., chairman; Dudley A. White, Norwalk, O., Secretary; William Thom, Canton, O.; John McSweeney, Wooster, O., and Carl E. Capes, Grand Rapids, Mich. A. L. Caris, Ravenna, O., is director general, and H. D. Hopkins, Tiffin, O., executive secretary.

ONE QUARANTINE IN USE DURING MONTH'S TIME

During August only one family has been under quarantine for a communicable disease, Dr. A. D. Blackburn, health commissioner, reported to the board at its regular monthly meeting Friday afternoon. The report shows six field visits were made to diphtheria carriers and two cases sent to the isolation hospital at Ohio State university for removal of infected tonsils.

Work under tuberculosis control so far this month consisted of eleven investigations of new cases, one post sanatorium case admitted to medical and nursing service, one case admitted to a sanatorium and another to be admitted next week.

Five pairs of glasses were obtained for school children. One child was fitted with braces and another returned from a hospital following an orthopedic operation.

During the month examinations made in the office consisted of 23 cases recommended for tonsilectomy, one child referred to a specialist for treatment and surgery and three physical examinations of adults for working certificates. Preparations are being made by the department for the general inspection of schools and examination of pupils.

B. WARNER HONORED BY HIS FELLOW WORKERS

Bernard Warner, of Dennison, former coach and principal at New Holland school who has accepted a teaching position in Erie county, was honored at a dinner at the Country club Friday night given by employees of the Circleville highway garage and Sturm and Dillard.

Warner had been employed with the highway department this summer and was well liked by his fellow workers. Thirty-three men attended the dinner. An informal program was given.

Berle, Last of Original Brain-Trusters, Resigns

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 27.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today accepted the resignation of Adolf A. Berle, Jr., assistant secretary of state, and last of the original brain-trusters.

Berle was appointed last February and it was understood that he was to work on negotiations for a British-American trade treaty. In his letter of resignation he said that "certain work" had been forwarded, and this was taken to mean that the long-awaited treaty was ready.

He was the second member of the "little" cabinet to resign this week. Roswell Magill, under-secretary of the treasury, was the other.

Berle, a member of the faculty of Columbia university, New York City and identified with Mayor F. H. LaGuardia's fusion administration, said he was resigning because he had accepted office on a temporary basis. He said the President could make his resignation effective any time in September that he wished. The President made it effective on Sept. 15.

As is customary, Berle's letter to the President and Mr. Roosevelt's letter in reply were made public.

Berle first became identified with the New Deal when he, Prof. Ray Moley, who later was an assistant secretary of state, and Charles Taussig, economist, went to Warm Springs in 1932 for a series of conferences with the then President-elect.

From time to time he was called into White House discussions but never took a government post until invited to last February by Mr. Roosevelt.

Since then there have been reports of friction between Berle and other officials, particularly regarding the administration's anti-monopoly policies.

The President will deliver a brief extemporaneous address this afternoon, the occasion being the annual rally of the Roosevelt Home club, a group of Dutchess county neighbors, on the lawn of the home of Moses Smith, the overseer of the Roosevelt farm.

The President speaks annually to the group at their picnic. This year he said he would talk about fishing.

BRITAIN CALLS BATTLE FLEET TO NORTH SEA

Concentration Timed To Be

In Full Force When Nazis Gather In Nuremberg

SIMON'S TALK AWAITED

Briand Kellogg Pact Signed 10 Years Ago Today

LONDON, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Orders for the assembly of the home fleet in the North sea—battle station of the British navy—were disclosed today as the nation awaited a speech by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, defining government policy in the Central European problem.

Forty-two warships will be concentrated off the East coast of Scotland early in September, it was revealed. They will take their stations just after the opening of the German Nazi party annual conference at Nuremberg. They will remain until early in October when they will go on up to Scapa Flow, the grand fleet rendezvous in the Orkney islands.

COUNTY'S 1939 CORN ACREAGE ALLOTMENT TO VARY LITTLE FROM '38

FARMERS SHOW MUCH INTEREST IN A. A. A. PLAN

Pickaway Permitted To Use 68,699 For Field Crop During 1938

From present indications Pickaway county's 1939 field corn acreage allotment will not be greatly different from the 1938 allotment of 68,699 acres. Paul Mattheas, secretary of the county A. A. A. committee, said Saturday that the 1939 corn acreage allotment has not been determined as yet by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in Washington, D. C. Mr. Mattheas explained that the prediction is based on current crop reports and estimates.

Corn allotments for next year will be based on the crop to be harvested this fall. If the corn crop turns out to be larger than present estimates indicate, next year's allotments will be smaller. If it should fall below estimates, the allotments would be increased.

The county's allotment on all soil depleting crops, including corn, wheat, oats, etc., for 1938 was 142,368 acres. Many farmers have expressed interest in the 1939 wheat program, Mr. Mattheas said, and have been anxious to know what their corn allotments would be.

Sweet corn is included in the soil depleting crop allotment but is not included in the allotment of 68,699 acres.

Pickaway county's field corn crop is expected to be about the same as last year. Corn cutting in some fields is under way at the present time.

WAR TALK FILLS CAFES, STREETS IN CZECH CITY

Today leaders of the Sudeten party expressed themselves as skeptical that negotiations could be resumed effectively on a new program of minority concessions which the government is about to offer.

A proclamation by the Sudeten party repudiating responsibility for alleged attacks came as an unwelcome surprise. It said that because of recent attacks by "Marxist terrorists" against Germans the party was no longer able to assume responsibility for liberty and property of party members. Hence, it was said, the party withdrew the orders under which party members were to refrain from fighting back. It was left to the discretion of each party member to defend himself within legal limits if attacked.

The ministry of interior went direct to the country to reply. It said that order and peace in the republic would be assured through a responsible body—the police.

A statement was broadcast "on the fullest authority" in the German language. It said that the proclamation was a violation of law.

WALKER FACES ARRAIGNMENT IN TURNER DEATH

Ira Walker, 54, Chillicothe Negro barber, who has confessed the slaying of Fred Turner, 39, former Circleville resident, will be arraigned in Squire Sam G. Briggs' court in Chillicothe at 10 a. m. Monday on a first degree murder charge.

According to Sheriff Joe Vincent, Walker claimed self-defense in shooting Turner, of whom the accused man said he was jealous because of preference shown for Turner by Mrs. Ethel Smith, Negroess.

The gun used in the slaying, which took place along a hillside path, was thrown in the Scioto river.

SHERIFF CLAIMS CONFESSIONS IN MANY ROBBERIES

Chicken Thefts In Three Counties Cleared By Arrests Of Four

One man with the group escaped from police. The sheriff learned the man who escaped was Ralph Goodrich. When in Columbus, Friday, the sheriff and Franklin county deputies located Ralph Goodrich in an alley at the rear of E. State street near Bliss college. Clarence Goodrich was then apprehended at a rooming house. Ralph Goodrich was left at the Franklin county jail Friday night.

Bostic was fined $50 and costs this week by Mayor W. B. Cady on the gasoline theft charge. He will be returned to the federal reformatory at Chillicothe as a parole violator. The sheriff said the Goodrich brothers have served time in the Mansfield reformatory.

When making a trip to the Mansfield reformatory this week with a prisoner, Howard Radcliff showed the sheriff and Deputy Earl Weaver where some chickens had been taken in Knox county.

The chickens stolen in the series of thefts were sold in Columbus and Logan. Sheriff Radcliff said the women had not been involved in the chicken thefts. Operation of the police cruiser at night was praised by the sheriff for resulting in arrests that cleared the chicken thefts.

EX-CONVICT, 27, CRUCIFIED BY TWO FUGITIVES

First they drove to a lumber yard. There Collins was ordered to steal two pieces of lumber. He did so and the men drove him to an isolated spot along the Truckee river East of Reno.

"Here's where we get out," one of them said.

The men nailed one piece of lumber across the other, making a cross. Collins was told to strip. Pistols were pointed at him and he obeyed. Then, he was commanded to lie on the cross and to extend his arms "just like Christ did."

Clothes Set On Fire

Collins said he screamed and pleaded for mercy, but the men nailed him to the cross, poured kerosene on his clothes, set them on fire, and fled. Soon afterwards, he said, Dabney came along. He had heard his scream and had seen his clothes burning.

Collins was released from San Quentin Aug. 3. He said he had been going straight.

Four inch spikes were driven through each of Collins' hands and one through both of his feet. The cross was coated with blood.

Police believed that Collins knew his assailants and that their motivation had been less casual than Collins said.

He admitted that he had been associated with "Swede" and "Dago" in criminal enterprises and that they had been involved in the San Diego payroll robbery for which he served time. He said he had known them for eight years, yet insisted that he did not know their true names.

The nails had passed through his hands and feet to penetrate the wood to a depth of one inch, not enough to have held him but the cross been raised but to make it impossible for him to free himself. His clothes still were burning when police arrived.

Sedan Traced

Captain Bernard Addenbrooke announced that police were close on the trail of the sedan in which "Swede" and "Dago" escaped, had trailed it through Carson City, Nev., and on the road to Lake Tahoe.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

QUESTION: Will you please tell me what is wrong with the asters which I am sending under separate cover? The stems turn black and the plants later wilt and die.

ANSWER: They are infected with aster wilt, a disease which carries over from year to year in the soil and waits for the asters where are planted unless they have been raised from wilt-resistant seed which now may be purchased from the better seedmen.

QUESTION: I have a very fine lilac bush but the leaves are dying and drying on the branches. I noticed some fine sawdust around the base of the trunk. Is there any way I can save this lilac?

ANSWER: You have an infestation of the lilac borer. There is a possibility that you may be able to cut out the borers with a knife, or occasionally spear them with a sharp wire. Other than this, there is no set treatment for their control. I would cut out all the dead branches and apply about two heaping tablespoonsful of a complete commercial fertilizer, with an analysis of 4-12-4, over the surface of the ground from the trunk to a distance of about three feet away.

I would also water the lilac liberally to wash this fertilizer in the ground. The roots will be able to take this fertilizer in until the ground freezes and thus greatly increase the lilac's vigor for next year.

QUESTION: I recently built a new home in a wooded area and cut out a great many trees. We now find that some of the remaining trees have loose bark on the south side. Can you tell me what has caused this and what I should do to save the trees?

ANSWER: Whenever trees are cut out of a wooded area so the trunks of the remaining trees are exposed to full sunlight, it is not unusual for them to be severely injured by sunscald. This might have been prevented by wrapping the trunks with burlap. About the only thing that you can do now is to fertilize the remaining trees some time between the middle of September and December 1. Use three to five pounds of a complete commercial fertilizer, analysis 10-6-4 or even 4-12-4, per inch of trunk diameter. I would put this in holes which are 12 to 15 inches deep and 18 inches apart, under the entire branch spread of the tree and some little distance beyond.

This will stimulate the growth of the trees next year and possibly enable them to outgrow the damage.

QUESTION: I have just moved into a home in which the lawn is full of weeds and crab grass. What would you recommend that I do?

ANSWER: There are two possibilities. The one would be to cut the crab grass to remove as much seed as possible, apply a commercial fertilizer and if the soil is heavy clay, an inch or so of peat moss, rotted leaves, rotted straw, or rotted manure. Thoroughly incorporate this with the top six inches of the soil and then reseed. Or you could dig out the weeds by hand, cut off the crab grass close to the ground, break it off, fertilize as above, and reseed. The first method, however, would be much more satisfactory. In buying lawn seed, it is important to watch what you are buying since there is a tremendous amount of trash sold as lawn seed. Fortunately, our state law requires that the contents of each package of lawn seed be included in the label. Unfortunately, most purchasers do not check this over before buying. A good lawn mixture will never contain timothy, orchard grass, Canada bluegrass, a considerable percentage of inert ture's export program. Details of the plan as revealed so far surprised many traders. They regarded the announcement as the first phase of the export subsidy plan. Yet to be revealed, they pointed out, are the amount of wheat to be bought and the technique to be used in disposing of it in export trade.

Some traders likened the program to the procedure the government has used in absorbing surplus supplies of butter. The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation in February began buying butter for relief distribution. By mid-June it had accumulated more than 13,000,000 pounds.

Since then a government-financed cooperative has taken up the buying and has increased total purchases to almost 70,000,000 pounds. Previously this year the corporation bought flour and cereal products equivalent to approximately 14,000,000 bushels of wheat. More flour purchases are expected.

Various reports concerning the export subsidy plan have unsettled the wheat trade the last week. These have revolved around negotiations between officials of Canada and the United States for possible cooperation in moving wheat into export. The two nations together are estimated to have a total exportable surplus sufficient to satisfy the world's requirements.

Traders said the various grades of cash wheat specified as wanted by the Government indicated that few shipments would be made from here as comparatively small stocks of the types mentioned are in storage here.

Considerable cash wheat is believed to be "hedged" in the futures pit. This means that owners of the wheat have protected themselves by selling contracts specifying delivery of grain at a future date. Purchases to offset hedges would be made if the cash wheat is sold.

HOB KING FILES SUIT AGAINST MOVIE COMPANY

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 27—(UP)—Jeff Davis, the hobo king who had visions of being a rich movie star, sued Paramount pictures today for $50,000 because all the studio wanted from him was a pot of Mulligan stew, properly mixed.

Davis came here with high hopes, he told the judge, and all he got was insults, discomfort, and a pittance for his artistic efforts.

Paramount, according to the lawsuit, was making a movie called "Arkansas Traveler." This picture, he said, cast one Bob Burns in the part of a hobo. Davis said Burns knew no more about that than a hobo did about a Hollywood premiere.

SOLDIER NAMED IN SUIT

Suit for divorce and custody of a child was filed in Common Pleas court Saturday by Mrs. Daisy Kolsbun, W. Ohio street, against John B. Kolsbun, member of the U. S. army and stationed at Fort Hayes, Columbus. They were married June 6, 1934 in Los Angeles, Cal., the petition says. Mrs. Kolsbun charges failure to provide.

BRITAIN MOVES TO HALT CRISIS L. E. GOELLER TO DIRECT DEMOS

For the moment, with 1,000,000 men under arms and several hundred thousand under high pressure digging fortifications facing France, Adolf Hitler held the diplomatic initiative.

Future developments depend on whether Hitler and the German general staff consider a gamble of intervention in Czechoslovakia, when a suitable occasion arises, is too great.

Gambles Weighed Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, German minister of propaganda, once publicly admitted that previous Nazi coups entailed gambles which were weighed when a decision was taken.

The Times Berlin correspondent warned today that incidents which may result from the Sudeten party "self defense" decision might "culminate in a grave incident which Germany would not be content to meet merely with newspaper polemics."

The Daily Mail splashed a story under a Paris dateline that Germany had asked Yugoslavia and Roumania for assurance of their neutrality in event of German intervention in Czechoslovakia. It said that the French government informed the British government of this news and that the sudden conference Wednesday of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, and Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer was the result.

British Deplore Sudeten Decree

LONDON, Aug. 27—(UP)—A semi-official statement was issued today deploring a proclamation in which leaders of the Sudeten German party in Czechoslovakia withdrew orders to their men to refrain from retaliating against attacks on them.

It was a statement of a most unusual nature—a British government comment, to all purposes, on an order issued by a political party in a foreign country.

There seemed no doubt that the issue of the statement meant that the British government was deeply concerned at developments in Czechoslovakia.

Attitude Emphasized It was made more important because, in the statement, the conciliatory attitude of the Czechoslovak government was emphasized. The statement said:

"Official quarters in London welcome the conciliatory attitude displayed by the Czech government in suggesting a new basis for negotiation with Sudeten Deutsche leaders with the express object of meeting the latter's fundamental demands.

"It is hoped that this contribution may meet a constructive response and that every effort will be made in all quarters concerned directly or indirectly with the matter to avoid anything which may heighten tension.

The issue by the Sudeten Deutsche party of a proclamation relaxing the admirable discipline hitherto observed by the Sudeten Deutsche is therefore much deplored.

"WINDOW CONDITIONING"

(DOUBLE-GLASS INSULATION) You insulate your windows with double-glazed sash or storm windows—two panes of glass where only one was used before. Between the two, a wall of captive air is formed. This air space is one of the best forms of insulation. Reliable tests show that "Window Conditioning" saves more in fuel costs than any other single form of house insulation—cuts 20 to 30% right off your fuel bill—permits healthful humidity without having windows fogged up with excessive moisture which collects on uninsulated windows, drips down and soils draperies and rugs and spoils woodwork finishes.

"Window Conditioning" is an investment that can pay for itself in less than two winters and dividends accrue year after year. We make a specialty of using L-O-F Quality Window Glass, noted for its greater freedom from waviness and distortion and therefore especially suited to "Window Conditioning." For your protection, each light bears the L-O-F Label of Quality.

An estimate will prove how little "Window Conditioning" costs. You can finance the improvement under F.H.A. with no down payment... Call us or come in today.
